

Lydia Romitti

MANAGER, TALENT

Lydia is a Manager within the Talent Acquisition function at Bestige Holdings. She currently partners with Bestige's Operations Group to meet the leadership needs of existing portfolio companies and the broader investment team. Lydia approaches recruiting strategy with a focus on the human side, gaining a deep understanding of the person as a whole, complimentary with the person on paper.

Prior to Bestige, Lydia served as an Executive Recruiter at Wilton & Bain, a global boutique and retained executive search firm, which specializes in placing senior executives for clients across Private Equity funds and portfolio companies, publicly traded organizations and professional services firms primarily aligned to the industrials, manufacturing, and financial services industries. Having started as an operations leader for the North American practice, she successfully transitioned to the recruiting side after placing a CIO at a $3B publicly traded manufacturer.

Her early career was spent in the restaurant and hospitality industries. At the Graduate Hotels, a boutique college town themed hotel chain, she learned the art of anticipating needs. At Suerte, a Michelin recommended restaurant, she gained a deep understanding of operational excellence.

Having grown up as an "Air Force brat", Lydia is from a bit of everywhere. She is a graduate of the University of Arizona with a degree in Communication and Spanish. She now resides in Austin, TX. In addition to the Texas music scene, Lydia enjoys weightlifting, spending time outdoors, and cooking from scratch.

